QUARTZ IN CALIFORNIA AND

BRITISH COLUMBIA Mr. S. V. Blakeslee quoted in Hittel's "Mining in the Pacific States," says, speaking of the auriferous quartz of the Sierra Nevada, "To appearance no order or system prevails in the distribution of the gold bearing veins scattered here and there through all parts of the mining region; but evidently a thorough geological survey of the State might reduce them to a fair system of trunks and branches. Yet a little observation of their localities will reveal one great leading vein taking precedence of all others, running along the Sierra Nevada, lying about an average distance of sixty miles west of their summits; and although broken at intervals and irregular yet extending along a good portion of the length of the State. Vast quartz mining operations are already going on at differen points, and we do not doubt that this vein vill in time yield more gold than the present circulating currency of the world. It deserves a distinctive name as much as th great ri ers, seas, and mountains of the earth but at present we can refer to it only as the Great Gold bearing Quartz Vein of California * * The vein is not always eviden above ground. In some places it disappears for miles below the surface, and again ap pears; in other places it is lost for only a few rods. It especially appears at ravines or other depressions on the surface. It descends under ravines, but appears capping hills and mountains, towering in sharp points at some places five hundred and a thousand feet high. It would be premature perhaps with our present limited knowledge to attempt to generalize upon the discoveries up to this time made in British Columbia. Taking up a map of that colony, and comparing the whole extent of the country with that portion of it already proved to be auriferous, we immediately perceive that what we know is but a mere drop in the bucket of what is still nokrown. Yet from that little, and from our knowledge of California and the intervening States, it will require no stretch of the im-ngination to infer that we too have "Great Gold-bearing Quartz Vein." Stretching from the boundary line north-ward into the fifty eight parallel of latitude, and in probability beyond even that limit, is an immense district proved to be auriferous, at least in the shape of placer From Rock creek on the boundary line to Peace river and the upper waters of the Stekin, gold has been found more or less richly distributed. Nearly every where too in that vast extent it appears to have its source in the range or ranges of mountains running parallel with and between the Rocky mountains and the Coast Range. So much for the general indications.

Midway between the extremities of the gold range of British Columbia lies Cariboo, the only portion perhaps that has received any like even a superficial prospect ing. In this spot we may say the gold has been traced to its source. Here the great gold bearing vein has been tapped, to produce some of the richest placer diggings the world has yet seen. From the placer diggings the discoveries of last winter and the present summer have enabled us to behold, let us hope, what will prove the harbinger of a more extended developement of the boundless mineral wealth of British Columbia. As in the great vein of California described above, Cariboo is one of the localities in which our vein is likely to present some prominent out croppings. From that district we are likely to acquire our first knowledge of its general character. In that district too the foundation of the future progress of the colony must be laid. That is a central point from which operations may be extended North and South To that locality therefore if we wish to succeed we must devote all our energies. must proceed confidently. Enough has been discovered already to convince even the most sceptical that the country is permeated in every direction with metaliferous quartz. The time also has now come when a beginmills. Our roads are now approaching completion. Machinery may be transported at a comparatively reasonable cost into the very heart of the mines. The rich veins recently discovered, from their proximity to placer diggings so difficult to work, will always be well supplied with skilled labor. Quartz veins and placers will thus render each other mutual assistance. A greater number of men can thus exist in the upper country. Provisions, clothing, and every other necessary will be reduced in price. The riches of Cariboo will be thoroughly developed from the greater convenience of equipment. The boundaries of Cariboo will gradually be en'arged North and South. The mountains will soon be as well honey-combed as they are in Washoe, and without doubt with similar results. The picture may to some seem over drawn, but have we not the example of California before us? Who would have ventured to predict that before the discovery of so many quartz veins that her suddenly acquired prosperity would be permanent? Her placer diggings are now about exhausted, but her progress has no cessation It rests upon the metaliferous rocks of her mountains, and like them is solid. Every day new veins of quartz are being discovered. Ground that has been trodden over time and again without any one suspecting its richness is every now and then disclosing its glittering prize to the eyes of quartz prospectors sharpened by the great fund of modern experience. If California has been fourteen years reaching her present position what may we not look for who have already discovered within a year such a mine of wealth to be developed. We have the experience of California before us. avail ourselves of the improved machinery and new processes for extracting precious metals. There is nothing therefore to prevent our anticipating the lates stages of the growth which has characterized California if we are only willing to embark the capital. Shall that be done? is the question of the day and the one upon the satisfactory answer of

THE GOOD AND HAPPY WIFE.—The deep happiness of the heart shines out in her face. She is a ray of sunlight in the house. She gleams all over it. It is airy, and gay, and graceful, and warm, and welcoming with her presence. She is full of devices, and plots, and sweet surprises for her husband and family. She has never done with the romance and poetry of life. She is herself a lyric poem, setting herself to all pure and gracious melodies. Humble household ways and duties have for her a golden significance. The prize makes the calling high, and the end dignifies the means. Her home is a paradise, not sinless, not painless, but still a paradise for "Love is Heaven, and Heaven is Love."

St. Paul's Person.—How little stress is laid on personal appearance. The prince of apostles seems to hint concerning himself that his bodily presence was not calculated to command respect. St. Chrysostom describes him as a little man about three cubits, or four and a half feet high. But Mecipherous has given us the most substantial account of Paul's person. The Comparative Prospects of Victoria and New Westminster.

Entrois Buriusi Colonist — Sir, —Your readers have already been apprized of intelligence from England, received by a recent mail, anhouncing changes proposed to be made by the Imperial Government in the civil administration of British Columbia. The gratifying prospect of obtaining the services of a governor exclusively devoted to the protection of the interests of that colony, and the anticipated inception of representative government by a corps legislatif, have combined to revive in the merchants and landowners of New Westminster the long cherished hope off undermining the prospecity of Victoria, and centralizing the Commercial activity which now distinguishes this port in that rival city. Earnestly do we trust that the anspicious epoch about to be inaugurated in any local property of victorial and centralizing the commercial activity of victorial supply of valuable return cargoes. For a year past, the State Telegraphic Company have been considering the project of building a new wire to Sacramento city, to accommodate the rapidly increasing business. During the present season, a new wire was stretched from this city to San José, to facilitate the business of the lower part of the State, as their wires connect us with San Jana Walsonville Santa Cruz. firms at a distance, to accept such fare as Vietoria may provide. It will be long before the business of any single merchant in British Columbia can justify him to engage in Importation direct from the parent country, and when a company of merchants are prepared to join in that undertaking, arrivals at New Westminster from England, or even from countries have more than the provided to the control of the countries of the countri part of the State, as their wires connect us with San Juan, Watsonville. Santa Cruz, Monterey, Visalia, Tejon, Los Angeles, etc. The increasing business east of the Sierras, together with the Overland business, taxes the two wires to Sacramento to their utmost, and a new wire is necessary to accommodate the local business north of Sacramento and the prospective telegraphing to be done from the local business north of Sacramento and the prospective telegraphing to be done from Oregon, as soon as that line is completed. The new line runs on an entirely new route, crossing the Heads by means of a cable laid between Fort Point and Lime Point Cove, thence over the hills to San Rafael, which will be furnished with a station. Thence the line runs to Petaluma, crossing the divide to Sangua, a second divide to Nana, and mak-Sonoma, a second divide to Napa, and mak ing nearly a straight line to Suisun, whence it will run on the county road to Sacramento By adopting this route the line will be relieved of the climatic effects often seriously telt in the wire which runs around the Bay by the way of San Jose. The heavy logs of the Peninsula often detract from the brilliant working of the line, but it is expected the new wire will not be so seriously affected. new wire will not be so retrously relected.

The wire is being shipped to the various landing places, and working parties have started for Napa to commence setting the poles. That portion of the line between Suisun and Petaluma via Napa and Sonoma, will be completed first, to throw these places into the San Francisco circuit. We may expect in from thirty to forty-five days to have this portion of the line in working order The cable is on hand, but will not be laid until late in the season, when the winds have modified their force. The whole work, however, is to be completed in less than ninety In regard to the Oregon Line, an officer o the Company has just returned from Portland, overland, and reports that the poles are set the entire distance from Yreka to Portland, with fifty miles of wire stretched this way from the latter point. A vigorous effort will most probably be made to transport and tun the wire before the snow falls. A portion of the wire is on hand, but the majority of it is still afloat and due, and if the pirates have not captured the vessels having the material on board we may expect at an early day to be in telegraphic communication with Portland, Oregon. The next point to the northward to be brought into our circuit, is Victoria Australia.
